Communication and Presentation Skills

Course Objectives

- Enhance students' technical communication skills, with a particular focus on writing (work-related) and presentation skills.
- Provide both theoretical and practical foundations needed for effective workplace communication.
- Enable students to master various communication skills required in professional and technical contexts.
- Help students build on their existing communication strengths.
- Support students in identifying and remedying communication weaknesses through constructive feedback.
- Develop students' ability to communicate effectively in the workplace.
- Train students to conduct formal and professional meetings.
- Prepare students to conduct and participate effectively in interviews.
- Develop students' skills in delivering persuasive presentations.

Course requirements

- Course Title: Communication and Presentation Skills
- Course Code: UNR 2101
- Bring the booklet to class every time.
- The material includes the PPTs and documents that you will be asked to print before the session. The book is just for reference and will not be included in the exams.

Course rules and regulations

- The course has a theoretical and practical part. You are required to study both.
- Both parts are included in the documents and the PPts.
- Make sure that your Koretext account is activated
- You will be required to
  - Perform a persuasive presentation by week 7.
  - Perform an interview by week 12.
  - Perform a meeting by week 14.

EXAM ISSUES WE MUST AVOID

- Not attending either the meeting or the interview will result in losing the mark.
- Making up for these practical projects is very hard since they depend on the group.
- Grades will not be the same for all the groups in a joint assignment, but it depends on individual performance.
- Persuasive presentations should be done individually or in pairs. Topics are general and not specific.
- Details of all assignments will be given later.
- You are not allowed to switch classes unless you do so through the Academy's system.

Grading scheme

7th week exam 20

Persuasive presentation 10

Interview 10

12th week exam 10

Meeting Minutes 5

Participation and commitiment 5

ABSENCE AND ATTENDANCE

3 TIMES FIRST WARNING

4TH TIME SECOND WARNING

5TH WITHDRAWAL

Classroom rules

1. Respect everyone in the classroom

- Listen when others are speaking, avoid interruptions, and maintain professional language and behavior at all times.

2. Be punctual and prepared

- Arrive on time, bring required materials, and complete assigned readings or tasks before class.

3. Use technology responsibly

- Mobile phones and laptops should be used only for class-related purposes to avoid distractions.

4. Participate actively

- Engage in discussions, group work, and activities while respecting different opinions and viewpoints.